Zoo and Bergen Swamp Preservation Society to hold 'Meet and Greet' on August 22

The meet and greet highlights swamp's diverse plant and animal life.

Rochester, NY – August 6, 2014 — Residents in Genesee County and surrounding areas know the Bergen Swamp is a special place. But how many have actually seen some of the swamp's most famous denizens? Now's your chance!

At 7 p.m. on Friday, August 22, the Seneca Park Zoo and Bergen Swamp Preservation Society will hold an Endangered Species "Meet and Greet" at the Gillam Grant Community Center. Refreshments will also be served.

Meet some of these fascinating animals in person with Zoo herpetologists. Learn about the natural history of the Eastern Massasauga rattlesnake, among other reptile species found in the swamp, as well as what to do if you encounter one! Bergen Swamp Preservation Society trustees will also be on hand to answer any questions about the swamp's special flora, fauna and geology.

The Gillam Grant Community Center is located at 6966 West Bergen Road in Bergen.

The Seneca Park Zoo Society is a not-for-profit organization which has, since 1957, provided education, fundraising, special events and public relations support to Monroe County, who owns and operates the Seneca Park Zoo. For additional information, visit www.senecaparkzoo.org.
